

Good Management understand that the use of effective communication tools can translate to more productivity

Tracking and Control of Information Made Easy

Ping82.com will dramatically cut down the time you need to spend managing and responding to emails within your organization daily. It places urgency and accountability for each task created. You can rest easy knowing your messages are being delivered to the right person.

Ping82 also created a unique approach to bring control and order in internal communication back to management. Ping82 has not reinvented email but has improved its effectiveness by allowing users access to the information instead of merely sending it. This process eliminates unnecessary duplication of second hand information.

Ping82 enforces Action and creates Result.
