

Good Sales Managers understand that time less spent on the computer = more time to achieve sales target

Are you a victim of email overload?

Ping82.com will dramatically cut down the time you need to spend managing and responding to emails with your sales team daily. You can rest easy knowing your messages are being delivered to the person that needs to know.

Ping82's unique approach to issue management keeps your sales organized. With a simple glance you'll know what needs to be done today and who is not performing the task. We'll even let you know if your messages have been ignored by the intended receiver.

Ping82 has not reinvented email but improved the effectiveness of email by going directly to what needs to be done now! Time spent reading and responding to duplicate messages are no longer necessary.

What Should You Be Doing?

Doing things that are productive other than reading and responding to emails = More time to generate sales
